Gemma Chair

Created by Altherr Désile Park for Leland

Versatility should be a natural phenomenon—where something easily and intuitively adapts to a wide range of people and environments. That’s the magic of the Gemma Collection—a chair, table, and soft-tailored lounge piece that effortlessly enhance their surroundings.

A Collection of Natural Versatility

Leland’s renowned use of color on wood exponentially increases the opportunities that already exist with the varied materials and finishes available in the collection. Gemma is truly as versatile as a collection can be.

Organic in Every Way

We sought to create a forward-facing design that brings together modernist American design, Leland’s Midwestern origins, and European design. The end goal was to create a simple – not to be confused with simplistic – aesthetic. The collection’s friendly, quiet contours convey craft, warmth, and optimism without shouting.

The naturality of Gemma’s design means it can cross effortlessly between spaces. Whether it’s an office area with a residential vibe, a lounge where people gather for coffee and chats, or a nook that invites parties of one, Gemma is fit for any space and every occasion. This is what good design should be—varied, adaptable, and extremely flexible, from one place to the next.
